THE PITTSBURGH

THE PRESS EXTENDS BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

HENRY J. LENON.

Henry J. Lenon who celebrates his birthday anniversary today, is one of the best known "Red" fighters in the country. He was born in the old Twelfth ward, Lawrenceville, and attended O'Hara and Springfield schools. Later he worked in the mills and as a railroad brakeman, window decorator and traveling salesman. He was superintendent of Fernwood park and Garrick theater, Chicago.

Prior to and during the World war, he worked for the United States department of justice in the Pittsburgh district and during the war he was in charge of the Erie office. Lenon gained a reputation as an expert on radical movements when he was a special investigator of "Red" activities between New York and Chicago for several years and assisted in the prosecution of many sedition cases. He is now connected with the office of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner. He is married and has four children. His home is in Wilkinsburg.
